Ursula Jenkins

The Gloucestershire Guild of Craftsmen is an active charitable membership organisation established in 1933 to support and promote the work of skilled professional designer-makers.

The Guild works to raise awareness of contemporary craft and its associated skills with a lively programme of exhibitions, demonstrations and workshops, and through its flagship shop in Cheltenham, The Guild at 51.

Join the Guild

Membership for the Guild is by selection at interview. Applications are welcome from both traditional and innovative professional designer-makers who produce well-made and well-designed work.

For more information about the Guild and how to join please visit our website.
